

Why choose Quectel?

Quectel is a leading cellular and GNSS module vendor and has just launched a range of antennas for IoT devices. The company is proud of its international and innovative team of experts and offers an impressive portfolio and range of products with 360-degree support.

An international and innovative company

After ten years of constant growth, Quectel's global footprint now includes:

The company strives to serve its more than 6,000 customers worldwide with a focus on quality and innovation and does so with:

- 50+ sales offices worldwide
- 2,300+ R&D engineers
- 3,000+ employees
- 90+ global distributors
- 5 R&D centres in Shanghai, Hefei, Foshan, Belgrade and Vancouver
- 3,000+ sqm of total lab space available to test our customers' products
- 2,500+ test stations

Extensive experience and expertise

Quectel's global teams offer unparalleled experience and expertise in IoT with a diverse team of exceptional talent drawn from all corners of the earth.

The international executive board in particular is extremely well connected in the modules industry, with each member contributing a wealth of relevant experience and a high-profile professional network from other leading IoT ecosystem companies around the globe.

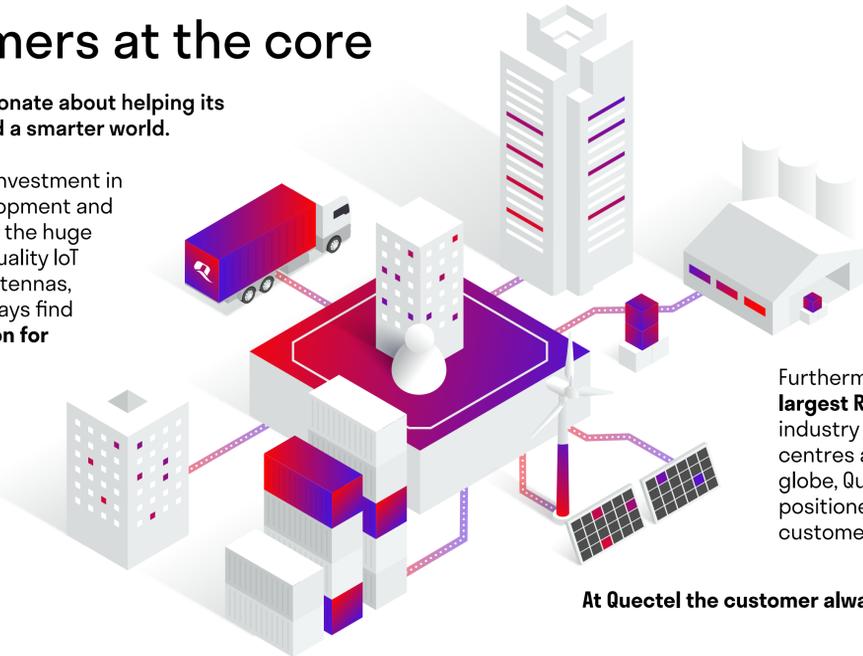

Quectel collaborates with multiple ecosystem partners, network service providers, certification bodies and suppliers, providing customers with innovative products and services of the very highest quality.

Customers at the core

Quectel is passionate about helping its customers build a smarter world.

With extensive investment in research, development and automation and the huge range of high-quality IoT modules and antennas, Quectel can always find the right solution for your project.

Furthermore, with the largest R&D team in the industry and R&D centres around the globe, Quectel is well positioned to offer its customers 24/7 support.

At Quectel the customer always comes first.

Impressive portfolio of products and services

Quectel offers the broadest portfolio of IoT modules and more than 250 antenna options for both embedded and external products.

Technology options include:

- GNSS modules: LC86L
- Cellular modules: RM5100
- Wi-Fi and Bluetooth modules: FG20
- Cellular, Wi-Fi/BT and GNSS antennas: RM5100

These solutions are perfect for applications within the following global industries:

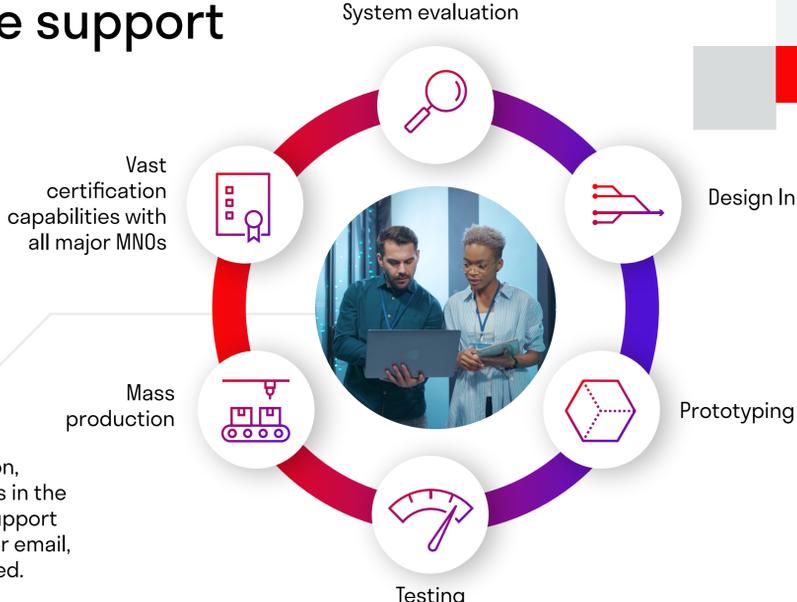

- Payment
- Energy
- Safety
- Smart cities
- Industry 4.0
- Gateways
- Agriculture and environment
- Life and healthcare
- Telematics and transport

For every solution and application combination, Quectel is also on hand with 360-degree support.

Fast 360-degree support

With the largest R&D team in the IoT industry, and its own factory, Quectel has over 2,300 engineers who offer global, cross-regional 360-degree support in six main areas:

No matter what solution or application, Quectel's FAEs, the largest local teams in the industry, can offer fast 24/7 support either online via the website, portal or email, or can even visit you on-site if required.

Build a smarter world together with Quectel

Discover more about one of the world's leading suppliers of cellular and GNSS modules at quectel.com.